

THE CARS IN MANCHESTER

Council After the Passenger and Power Company.

HOUSE AT THE CEMETERY

Mr. Toney Was Discharged in the Mayor's Court—Funeral Services, Cases Before 'Squire Jordan'.

Personal and Notes.

Manchester Bureau Times-Dispatch, 1112 Hull Street.

The Common Council of Manchester last night after the Passenger and Power Company in a resolution presented by Mr. Beams.

The resolution was adopted unanimously, and is designed to compel the Passenger and Power Company to run cars on the Hull Street line from Seventh to May's Bridge, in accordance with a resolution adopted in 1901.

Little discussion was indulged in. Mr. Beams said that he understood the company was fixing two cars with a view to running a summer car, the other closed, to run over that line, and he wanted the schedule to be maintained.

Mr. Taylor complained that the cars on Perry and Hull Streets were not started early enough in the morning to accommodate the working people. He said the cars did not reach Manchester before 6:30, and he wanted something done about it.

The peddlers' license proposition was referred to the License Committee.

NEW HOUSE PROPOSITION

The advocates of the adoption of the resolution appropriating $1,500 for a new house for the superintendent of Maury Cemetery last night at the meeting of the Council, which is seven, and they had only six votes. Those voting against the proposition were Messrs. Nunnally, Sampson, Taylor, and Beams; for the proposition, Messrs. Ferguson, Bradley, Grizzard, Owen, Cox and Fahr.

The resolution came from the Finance Committee. An independent resolution will be introduced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Friday night, and those who feel that there should be a new house are satisfied that the Board will adopt the resolution.

The result of the vote last night was a surprise, as it was felt that there would be no opposition to the measure.

Other routine business was transacted and the body adjourned.

MR. TONEY DISCHARGED

After hearing the testimony in the case of Mr. D. L. Toney in the Mayor's Court yesterday morning, 'Squire Jordan' set him free in the place of the Mayor, dismissed Mr. Toney.

There were a number of witnesses for and against Mr. Toney. Among those against him were Captain Craighill, Lieutenant E. M. Hardy and Privates Wood, Eganey, Taylor, and Beams. Mr. Toney refused to move and that he abused them.

The witnesses for Mr. Toney were all well known and reputable citizens, and included Messrs. Eugene W. Lipscomb, A. J. Carter, Ernest Robertson, J. C. Snellings, John M. H. Sharp, W. E. Crockett, J. G. Gill, Henry Mantell and W. R. Martin.

These gentlemen testified that Mr. Toney was neither a disorderly nor obstreperous, and it didn't take 'Squire Jordan' long to make up his mind as to what to do, and he discharged Mr. Toney.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GRAND JURY TO PASS ON TAYLOR KILLING

and Porter Streets Thursday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock.

The members of the Alexandria Light Infantry attended services at Meade-Memorial Church last Sunday morning. This company, under command of Captain King, is stationed at the car barns on the Forest Hill line.

West End, Clifton Street, Sunday schools will go to West Point tomorrow on their annual excursion.

Mr. Toney did not feel justified in shooting. The hearing was concluded about 4:45 o'clock and the jury retired to consider the evidence.

Mr. Meredith asked permission to read sections 877-78 of the Code, showing what action could be taken by civil authorities even before military assistance was called upon.

Mr. Page said that the matter would be called to the attention of the grand jury, which meets next Monday, and that he did not think this the proper time to discuss the case from a legal standpoint. At that time Judge Ingram will give authoritative instructions, which would place the question clearly before the public.

The jury took this position, and the section of the Code referred to was not read to them.

BEFORE GOING INTO THE INQUIRY

The jury went into the inquiry the jury visited the scene of the shooting and examined the bullet marks in the residence of Mr. James T. Morris. Mr. H. M. Owens, Mr. J. Moore, on Cowardin Avenue, and Mr. Reynolds, on Fifteenth Street, near McDonough.

The first witness heard was Sergeant A. M. Jennings, who was near the corner of Perry Street. He heard the firing toward Hull Street, and ran out into the middle of the road. He saw two flashes and heard the horse coming. Then he jumped back on the side and shouted, "Look out!" to the nearest sentinel.

The horse ran up the street, and the man looked like he was either drunk or wounded. He had no control of the horse, and he heard two shots from above McDonough.

Private William H. Hart, of Lynchburg, turned out to be the man who shot from Hull Street across the field. He testified that he thought it was some one firing at the car that had just reached the corner of Hull and Cowardin Avenue.

No one else fired in that vicinity. His ball struck a solid brick wall.

Lieutenant Stone knew nothing about the shooting. He heard only two shots fired below Perry Street. The horse was going fast and he could scarcely see the man.

C. C. Sharp, of Company F, was on the avenue at McDonough Street. He shouted "Halt!" to the man, and then fired almost directly down the avenue. The man was leaning over in the buggy, and the horse was going at a rapid rate. He could not have stopped him. Witness crossed the street before firing, as there were people out in front of their houses, and he did not want to shoot any one. He heard no one say he had "no business to shoot, as he had been given no orders." He heard other shots up the road, but only two in the immediate vicinity.

P. H. Cook, of the same company, was on the opposite curb, but on the same side of the street. He heard the noise at Hull Street and said to Sharp: "You better load, there's trouble." He then saw the horse approaching and called "Halt!" Then he fired. The man seemed to be leaning over, and the horse was running fast. He shot so it would not be in the line with the horses.

Private Crowder was standing at a gate near McDonough Street. He heard shooting, cries of "Halt!" and "Pop him!" He called to a sentry that "There's trouble!" and ran out in the street. As the horse approached, he shouted "Halt!" and fired. He heard commands to halt all along the line. The man was apparently leaning over the spatter board. He shot once.

S. B. Isaacs heard the noise, and cries of "Halt!" and "Shoot," and when the horse got opposite him he shot. The animal reared up on its legs and stumbled. It regained its feet, however, and walked slowly along a short distance and stopped. He said I shot at the horse," he said, "but I don't know."

He did not go up to the horse until the crowd got around it, and the man was taken out of the buggy. According to the speed the horse was going, said the witness it could not have turned at that time. He thought the horse had gone over to destruction in the railroad ravine.

Juror Campbell complimented witness on what he had done, as he considered the shooting of the horse the very best thing that had been done.

Isaacs said he was only seventeen years old.

Private Hooper was near the bridge. He heard the shooting and saw the horse coming, and shouted "Stop shooting!" as he saw no reason for shooting. When he got where the horse had stopped he noticed that the reins were lying on the ground. He said he would not have shot in that case.

Private J. L. Kitchen was between Perry and McDonough Streets. He heard the firing at Hull Street and loaded his place. He thought the man who commanded the man to "Halt!" but the horse ran on.

"I did not fire," he said, "because the man looked like he was drunk or wounded, as he was trying to shield himself from the bullets." He thought the man in the buggy had been doing some of the shooting. The horse was not under control. Heard three or four shots after the horse passed on toward Cowardin Avenue.

Private J. A. Fagan, between Perry and McDonough Streets, didn't shoot because he didn't know that was the man they were after until the man who was in pursuit came up and told him. He had previously loaded his place, but he did not fire.

Private C. C. Duke saw the trap pass Cowardin Avenue and Perry Street. The man looked like he was trying to get the reins, that had dropped from his hands. He thought the horse was running away.

Several of those who had previously testified were recalled in corroboration, but no further facts were brought out, and the case went to the jury.

THURMAN DIVORCE SUIT

The Wife Charges General Thurman With Cruelty and Inhuman Treatment.

WINCHESTER, Va., July 14.—Suits for divorce have been entered in the Circuit Court of Clarke county by Mrs. Thurman against her husband, General Charles Thurman, on the grounds of unusual cruelty and inhuman treatment.

One allegation is that General Thurman coerced Mrs. Thurman to Staunton, Va., drove her in a buggy a distance of 100 miles from their beautiful home in Clarke county under the pretense of wishing to show her some property, he was about to buy, upon arriving at Staunton, Mrs. Thurman alleges that her husband induced her to inspect the insane asylum which was within the walls of the city, and she was made a prisoner as an insane person. Commitment papers had previously been secured by General Thurman without her knowledge, she avers, by a lunacy commission, upon the testimony of an old colored man formerly in her husband's employ.

After being incarcerated for several months, she declares, she communicated with friends, who secured her release. An affidavit in the case from one of the insane asylum authorities declares that Mrs. Thurman was not insane when she was received at the institution, she was given no medical treatment while there and that she was held only upon the strength of the commitment papers.

Mrs. Thurman is a member of a distinguished Tennessee family, among Mrs. Thurman's near relatives being former Governor Bates, of that State. General Thurman is said to be a near relative of the late Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, and related to the late General Grant by marriage. Mrs. Thurman is said to be worth over a quarter of a million dollars. They have been living upon their beautiful estate near Berryville for several years. Mrs. Thurman will be represented in the trial by ex-Congressman William F. Rhea, of Bristol, Va., and Mr. J. Lewis Bumgardner, of Staunton, Va. The defendant has retained Mr. A. Moore, Jr., of Berryville, Va.
